

JINR Association of Young Scientists and Specialists Conference
"Alushta-2022"

Contribution ID: 264

Type: not specified

JINR Institutional Repository

Saturday, 11 June 2022 12:15 (10 minutes)

Nowadays scientific communication plays an important role in providing society and researchers with scientific information. One of the components of communication is providing access to publication with the scientific output of researchers. Open scientific infrastructures like open access repositories, institutional repositories and Open Access journals helps to bring knowledge to readers. The different open source software for repositories will be considered, and the possibility for using this software as JINR institutional repository will be presented.

Summary

Presenter: ZAIKINA, Tatiana (JINR, LIT)

Session Classification: Sectional talks