Usual Awarding system: The best talk at parallel sessions and poster

- As usual, we will award the best talks at parallel sessions chosen by respectful juri.

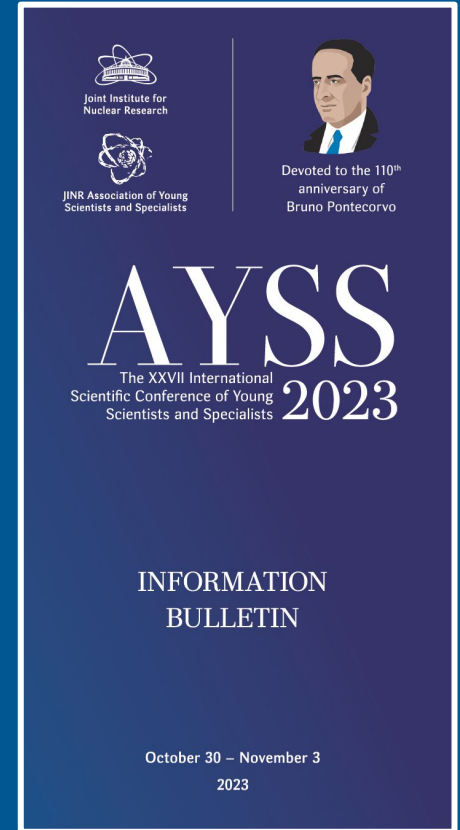

Path towards collaboration

- This conference is a first step on the way to creating interdisciplinary, inter-institutional collaborations.
- The AYSS-2023 goals and functions correspond to the new JINR Communication Strategy (Dr. Suleymanov's report on Tuesday).
- As part of the conference and excursions, participants can take a closer look at the place where their theses can be written and start looking for scientific supervisors or places to work.
- If you're interested in some JINR group or topic, please reach out to the organizers; we'll get you in contact with the corresponding people to have a personal excursion and a conversation on possible cooperation.

Contact info

- The information bulletin you collected during registration contains important information on all locations with maps, as well as the program, contacts, lunch places, etc.
- If you have issues or questions, don't hesitate to contact the organizers.
- And join the conference participants Telegram chat for prompt communication!

The organizers wish all of you a fruitful and memorable conference!
